JULY 2023

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

July has been a busy month with the leaves falling from the deciduous trees within Raleigh Park. These Leaves have been collected each day of the week and put into a compost heap to decompose.

In late Spring after the Winter flowering annuals have been removed the compost will be added to the annual beds to improve the soil and provide humus to the soil; this will improve the moisture holding capacity as well as the improving the nutrient retaining ability.

The Ranunculus at the Rose Garden are producing their first flowers. With the warmth of the last few days of July will produce many more flowers.

Treatment for broadleaf weeds and bindii are continuing with the focus on Todman Avenue nature strips.

Mowing of lawns has slowed as growth has slowed as the temperature has decreased. Only those places that are protected and are a little warmer have produced any growth.

In Link the primulas are producing a good show and there will be other plants flowering soon.

Some different plants have been installed at Link in the terraced gardens.
